you realize (i think) you didn't answer his question?

1 million XRP = $32,000 - thus you are recommending he go to the open market. Maybe include a link on where to get more information on how to do that?

Hi [REDACTED]

We encourage buyers of less than $250k to go to the open market. For transactions of this size we can sell to you at the spot price.

Let us know how much and we will send through the paperwork this afternoon.

like a million or two? Would depend on the rate card. What would 1 million XRP cost in USD and what would 2 million cost?

Hi [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] forwarded me along your request. We regularly sell XRP to large buyers (in fact, we have a registered entity and a rate card for that purpose), so definitely possible. How much are you interested in buying?

Good morning [REDACTED] Great to hear from you. Let me check with our compliance and finance teams and get right back to you. Expect an email back early this week with options.

All the best,

I'm hoping to purchase some XRP and wondering about the best way to do it. Chris mentioned that if I buy more than some set amount I should notify you first. I could purchase on the open market, of course, but I have some memory that it's possible to buy directly from the company, possibly even at some sort of advantaged price? I want to be 100% above board, obviously, so please be frank with me if that's not a good idea for any reason. But if it IS possible, let me know!
